CLEVELAND WILL GET EVEN

Congressmen Who Oppose Repealing the Sherman Act Cannot Expect Favors.

It Is the Coming President's Aim to Get Rid of the Cheap Silver Dollar Before He Tackles the Tariff Question.

CLEVELAND'S POLICY.

Purchase of Silver to Be Stopped and the Pension List Cut Down. NEW YORK, Jan. 30 .- The Tribune prints the following: "A prominent Democrat of this State, who has a national reputation, had a chat with President-elect Cleveland yesterday, in the course of which Mr. Cleveland told frankly what he is now doing, and what his policy would be in respect to federal appointments. 'Mr. Cleveland,' said this Democrat, 'is thinking now more about the repeal of the Sherman silver act and of the settlement of the silver problem generally than he is of Cabinet appointments. But the Cabinet appointments, as well as all other federal appointments, will be largely governed by Mr. Cleveland's ardent desire to stop the coinage of the present dishonest silver dollar. Mr. Cleveland regards the silver assue as the paramount one now in politics, superior even to the tariff issue. The settlement of the government's declaration as to silver, therefore, will have pre-cedence to the tariff issue. The Sherman act, in his opinion, is a peril to the country, and it must be repealed before anything else can be done with safety. Feeling as keenly as he does upon the matter, Mr. Cleveland cannot but observe with astonishment the conduct of certain Democratic Congressmen, who, after a visit to him for the purpose of pushing the appointment of certain friends of theirs to high federal offices, return to Washington and do their utmost not only to prevent the repeal of the Sherman silver act, but even work hard to pass a free-coinage act. These gentlemen will learn before another year has passed that Mr. Cleveland does not intend to put in high government positious men who will attempt to defeat his policy in respect to silver; and that he has observed the action of such Democratic Congressmen at Washington, who, pretending to be his friends, steadily favor in committees and on the floor of the Senate and House of Representatives the free coinage of silver.' "'What Cabinet appointments has Mr. Cleveland thus far decided upon?' asked the Tribune reporter.

"'Only two-John G. Carhele, of Kentucky, for Secretary of the Treasury, and Daniel S. Lamont, of New York, for Secretary of War. Both of these appointments are in the line of Mr. Cleveland's policy of unrelenting hostility to the sixty-five-cent silver dollar. Mr. Carlisle, as Secretary of the Treasury, of course, will be called upon to carry out the President-elect's policy in respect to silver, but Colonel Lamont can a lso be depended upon to entorce loyally this feature of Mr. Cleveland's policy. Col. Lamont, I hear, is placed in the War Department by Mr. Cleveland with the aim by the latter of having a thorough examination of the pension rolls made, and the dishonest receivers of pensions weeded out. Of course the Pension Bureau is in the Interior Department, but the War Department has certian books which will enable Colonel Lamont to do this work in a thorough manner.'

"'Has Mr. Cleveland been told by Richard Croker that Senator Edward Murphy, jr., and Tammany Hall will support his policy of administration?"

"'No overtures have been made to Mr.

Cleveland by anybody claiming to represent Tammany Hall or Mr. Murphy."

"I presume Mr. Cleveland will make a large number of appointments to office in New York State as soon as he is sworn in?' "'Upon the contrary, he will make very few, and he will not make a large number of appointments in the State the first year of his administration. It is his desire to select business men for the federal offices at his disposal, and, of course, this work of selecting from among them will take a good deal of time; far more so than if he had made his sciections from an exclusively political class."

One Way of Wiping Out Trusts. NEW YORK, Jan. 30. - Representative Harter, of Ohio, in discussing his antitrust bill, said to a Times reporter yester-

"My bill, I think, is very fair and just, If the trust interested chooses to dissolve, it in no way punishes, or seeks to punish, past offenses. If not, it simply puts the articles made by the trust, on the free list, and, by way of penalty, strictly annuls all patents exclusively owned by the trust, and deprives the trust of all its exclusive rights-in fact, of about all of its ad-vantages-of good-will, trade-marks, etc." "Will it wipe out trusts?"

"You can imagine how much of a trust the Sugar Trust would be with from swelve to fifteen million dollars cut out of it and restored to the people each year. What would happen to the Whisky Trust with the tariff tax cut down from $2.50 per gallon to the internal-revenue tax of 90 cents Where would the Cigarette Trust go with its patents annulled and its trade-marks made public property? I intend to add to the bill before its passage the loss of trademarks. As the trusts can escape all these penalties by simply dissolving, it looks to a man up a tree as if the reign of the trust is likely to be only a question of time, and not a very long time either. I care as little about trusts as the next man. I have never felt cranky on the subject, and I believe in the utmost liberality possible in such matters. I am opposed to all class legislation, to all anti-option bills. But the time is now here, or very close to us, when the people must have pretection of the most ample kind against these already branded criminal associations. The bill will give it."

Don M. Dickinson's Visit to the Judge-Th Latter Refuses to Talk Politics.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 .- Additional significance is given to the conference which took place between Henry Watterson, Judge Gresham and some other politicians on Saturday, at which it is supposed Judge Gresham's availability for a Cabinet position was discussed by the presence, under cover, of Don M. Dickinson. Dickinson arrived at Richelien Hotel on Saturday night been the object of his visit it was certainly marked by unusual secreey. He did not register and did not even go to his room by

On Sunday Mr. Dickinson was absent most of the day from the hotel. At 1 o'clock he ordered a carriage, and was driven in the direction of Prairie avenue, where Judge Gresham resides. ple would have to make their own inferences. He was reminded of the publication, a short time ago, in which he was quoted as saying that Mr. Cleveland had not tendered him a Cabinet position, and was asked if he would object to having that statement repeated.

"Yes." he answered, "I would object, because I am not giving political interviews. If Mr. Watterson was here on a political mission I did not know it. I don't believe he was. He did not call on me at all. He was at the federal building, and if he addressed a letter to Mr. Cleveland I did not know it. I do not believe he did. I did drop in at the hotel and see him, but did not have any conversation with him in relation to the Cabinet question."

Harrity Will Not Enter the Cabinet. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30 .- National Chairman William F. Harrity returned to the city from Lakewood this morning, and when seen by a reporter this afternoon, and asked whether he had seen Presidentelect Cleveland, he answered: "Yes, two or three times. Mr. Cleveland is in good health and spirits, and I had very pleasant interviews with him." "Have you anything to say about the Cabinet?"

"Nothing whatever."
"How about yourself?"

"I have nothing to say."
"What about you having a place in the "My position remains the same as has been set forth in the newspapers. There 18 no probability that I will occupy any federal position.

"May I say that?" "You may if you choose. I have no objection to your saying it."

GALLAGHER LET 'ER GO.

It Was His Fist, However, and It Landed on "Bat" Masterson's Face.

Special to the Ingianapolis Journal. DENVER, Col., Jan. 30 .- The eight-round fight between Reddy Gallagher and Jess Smith at the Coliseum to-night ended in a row in which the police took a hand. The trouble began when Smith persisted in lying down every time Gallagher got him where he could hit him and then jumping up and hitting Gallagher while the latter was appealing to the referee. In the second round Smith continued these tactics and his backer, "Bat" Masterson, made a remark not complimentary to Gallagher, when the latter struck him stinging blow in the face. Masterson leaped into the ring and started for Gallagher, when the police interfered and separated the two men. An attempt was made to continue the fight, but before the end of the second round it was given to Gallagher on a foul. Trouble between Gallagher and Masterson is expected when the two come together.

Senator White Attempts to Demolish the Anti-Option Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.-In the Senate, today, after brushing aside temporarily the Hawaiian proposition of Mr. Chandler, Mr. White set to work to demolish, if possible, the anti-option bill and Mr. George's substitute for it. He ridiculed the principle on which the proposed legislation is based (the immorality of "future dealings"), and declared that the passage of such a bill would place Senators in the position of "antediluvians," going back into the ark and condeming the universality of the laws of commerce. Another of his metaphors was that Senators voting for the bill would be like the one obstinate juror, who considered the other eleven jurors as pigheaded.

The brief session of the House to-day was an uninteresting one. The sundry civil bill was further considered, but was not disposed of. It will probably be disposed of to-morrow. The Speaker announced the appointment of the following committee to investigate the Panama canal scandal: Messrs. Fellows, Geary, Patterson, Powers and Storer.

Don't Want to Mix with Scrub Women. WASHINGTON, Jan. 80 .- A reception to First Assistant Postmaster-general and Mrs. Evans at the residence of Postmastergeneral Wanamaker, arranged for to-night. was postponed until Friday. A statement that it had been abandoned was received with much relief by some of those invited. because, with a democracy not at all to the fancy of a large number of employes of the department, Mr. Wanamaker invited to his home the women who are employed in cleaning and in sweeping the rooms, the messengers who sit at the doors of the higher officials and who run errands. and, in fact, everyone, without regard to sex or color or previous condition of servitude, whose name is on the pay rolls. As the invitation included the wives of the employes it was looked upon as a social canebrakes in Kentucky, but stopped to rather than an official affair. Some of the rest, as he had traveled on foot all night. women declared they would not go, others reported abandonment of the reception was considered to be a happy solution of the perplexing problem. What they will do now is a question, Austrian Premium Bonds Not Mallable. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. - The Supreme Court in the case of Horner, plaintiff in error, vs. the United States has decided that the Austrian premium bonds constitute a true lottery within the meaning of the statutes (notwithstanding the plea that they are part of the Austrian debt) and that they are, therefore, not mailable. The case came up on certification from the Circuit Court of Appeals of NeYork. Thew questions certified were whether the mode of drawing, as described on the back of the bond, constitutes a lottery; whether a circular issued by Horner and sent out by mail was a circular concerning a lottery, and whether the circular containing a list of the public drawings constituted a lottery drawing within the meaning of the statute. The court answered all of these questions in the affirmative.

RELIGIOUS WAR IN LAFAYETTE. Judge Charges the Special Grand Jury-Anti-Catholic Society Active.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal: LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 30 .- The excitement growing out of the Thursday night riot and Sunday's sermons is still at blood heat here. To-day the grand jury was sworn in for special duty to investigate the action of the mob in breaking up the meeting of ex-priest Rudolph and shooting him. Judge Langdon's charge to the jurors was a strong one, instructing them that if they found the laws had been broken, a lawful assemblage dispersed and an effort made to throttle free speech by shooting the speaker, they were to return indictments fearlessly and promptly. Tonight the anti-Catholic society, known as the American Protective Association, is initiating about two hundred new members. A committee waited on Sheriff Gad-dis and demanded protection from molestation, and about twenty armed men are tonight on duty on the streets surrounding their hall. All crowds are dispersed and people required to move on, there having been threats that the gas in the building would be shut off, leaving the members in darkness. All of these gas companies draw their supply from territory contiguous to the oil field, and it is claimed that where oil wells are bored they are allowed to stand open for days and often weeks, thus allowing an unnecessary escape of gas. One of the Decatur company's eight wells has failed, and the cause is attributed to the leakage from the numerous oil wells. The Fort Wayne supply is becoming insufficient to meet domestic demands satisfactorily, although the Decatur and Binfiton plants thus far show no signs of failure. The companies interested have petitioned the Indiana Legislature to pass a measure to prohibit the unnecessary drainage upon the gas sup-

PROFIT-SHARING DIVIDENDS. Congressman-Elect Conn Distributes $14,-600 Among 103 Employes.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ELKHART, Ind., Jan 30 .- Congressmanelect C. G. Conn, proprietor of the Conn band-instrument factory of this city, made his annual distribution of dividends on the profit-sharing basis here this evening. The opera house was crowded with citizens and the Walter Emerson company gave a concert, after which money amounting to $14,600 was distributed among 108 employes. The five managers elected from among the employes received as their share of the dividends alone, independent of wages, $1,010 each, while the remainder was distributed among their classes, in sums of $60, $90 and $150 each. The occasion was the tenth annual anniversary of the burning of the factory, and was made the occasion by the employes of a reception to their employer. The profit-sharing has been in operation two years. Mr. Conn presented his wife $10,000 as her share.

STRICKEN WITH REMORSE,

Murderer Bohannon Captured and Says He Wants to Hang for His Heartless Crime. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 30 .- Charles Bohannon, who shot and killed George Doanes, Sunday evening, was captured this morning, at daylight, by Sherift Buckles and his posse, at the home of Bohannon's brother, in Decker towns ip. The prisoner had started, he says, for the canebrakes in Kentucky, but stopped to Bohannon expresses deep regret over what he has done. He says that he has no desire to live, and that he would rather be hanged than bear the remorse which, he fears, he will always feel. There is talk of a mob from the scene of the murder. George Doanes, whom he killed, was an industrious and respected young man, and was engaged to Miss Sallie Madden, on account of whom he was killed by his jealons rival. Bohannon is a worthless young man, given to strong drink, who had been working for Elijah Madden, father of the girl, whose pretty face was the cause of her lover's death.

LODGED AGAINST THE BRIDGE, Monster Gorge in the Ohio Partially Breaks and Plays Havoc with the Bridges. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Jan. 80 .- The gorge broke at this point at 5 o'clock this afternoon. It began moving very slowly at first, but carried everything with it. The fleet belonging to Cook & Hoffman, consisting of about twenty-five empty barges, together with several loaded ones, were all destroyed. The ice moved only about an hour, and gorged again against the piers of the Louisville and Jefferschville bridge. The barges were piled on top of each other, and many were totally smashed to pieces. No exact estimate of the loss can be made, as it grew dark before any correct view of the situation could be had. However, it is estimated at several thousand dollars. The river rose very rapidly this afternoon, but began falling slowly this evening. About one hundred barges from above are looked for some time during the night.

A dispatch from Cincinnati savs: The break-up of yesterday was estimated to have entailed $50,000 damages to coal barges. At Riverside, a few miles below here, the river had reached twenty-three feet at noon, and is rising rapidly.
All the tributaries of the Ohio are rising and it is raining at many points along the river. A lot of lumber, valued at $25. 000 to $30,000, is reported from Parkersburg as having been lost in the Little Kanawha. Another gorge thirty miles up the Little Kanawha, with $100,0 0 worth of lumber in it, brake this morning.

The children opposed the match, both on account of the standing of the woman and for the sake of the memory of their dead mother, who had passed away so recently, after over forty years of happy wedded life. It is supposed the old folks went to Richmond, and are tentive to the woman from the day his wife was buried. Mrs. Wise was divorced from a husband but a few days ago. The contracts have been let for a tabernacle capable of seating five thousand people and arrangements are being made with all the railroads leading into the city for reduced rates. Union services, in which every church in the city joined, have closed after a month's labors, and great good was ac-complished. Not satisfied with their efforts, however, the Pastors' Association resolved to bring the noted revivalist here for three weeks' work, and all arrange-ments are now perfected for his coming.

Important Tax-Law Decision.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 30 .- Judge Taylor, of the Circuit Court, to-day rendered an important decision affecting the State tax law. The First National Bank had asked for an order restraining the county and city treasurers from proceeding to collect taxes on the assessment made by the State Board of Tax Commissioners. The Judge held that the State board did not have original jurisdiction to alter the assessment made by the county board. Under this construction of the law, unless there be an appeal from the action of the county board, the State board cannot change the assessment. The bank's assessment was increased more than $100,000. The Terre Haute brewery had also asked for a restraining order on similar ground.
